Tommy Learns A Lesson

Tommy could not find his uniform shirt. He looked around his bedroom. Oh, what a poor state his room was in! Paint splashed on the floor, socks hanging out of the drawer, piles of clothes scattered on the chester, books fallen off the shelf, a broken toy car in one corner, his favorite collection of postcards lying in the other corner and what not! The room was cluttered up with mess and totally unorganized.

His final football match was to start in half an hour and he was too confident he would win. But how will he go without the uniform shirt? All the team members were to wear similar uniforms and now how will he be allowed to participate without it?

He searched hard but in vain. He could not go after all. The match occurred without him. Tommy had learnt a very important lesson today which he will remember all his life.
