

Using has and have correctly

Worksheet 4

Have and has both show possession. When to use have and has depend on the subject (he, she, it (has)) (I, they, we (have)). You can also use has for something that has happened or is still happening.

Circle the word that best completes the sentence.

1. It has/have been two weeks since the visit.
2. Benny has/have a large aquarium full of fish.
3. The doctor has/have a bowl of candy at his office.
4. The teachers has/have a day full of meetings.
5. The flashlight now has/have new batteries.
6. The worksheets has/have lots of questions.
7. My mother has/have a beautiful new necklace.
8. My father has/have a business to fix cars.
9. My new sweater has/have a tear in the arm.
10. I has/have a blanket that is pink and purple.
11. I has/have to cook for ten people.
12. The spaghetti has/have started to boil.
13. The pizza has/have arrived.
14. Will you has/have a burger or hot dog for lunch?
15. Has/Have the members of your family ever competed in the games?

Answer Sheet

1. It has/have been two weeks since the visit.
2. Benny has/have a large aquarium full of fish.
3. The doctor has/have a bowl of candy at his office.
4. The teachers has/have a day full of meetings.
5. The flashlight now has/have new batteries.
6. The worksheets has/have lots of questions.
7. My mother has/have a beautiful new necklace.
8. My father has/have a business to fix cars.
9. My new sweater has/have a tear in the arm.
10. I has/have a blanket that is pink and purple.
11. I has/have to cook for ten people.
12. The spaghetti has/have started to boil.
13. The pizza has/have arrived.
14. Will you has/have a burger or hot dog for lunch?
15. Has/have the members of your family ever competed in the games?